Usage

> ./viterbi <input> <output>

Implementation

Due to the precision of double data type, I translate all the multiplication of float number to addition of its log number. And I use a 3xd matrix to record the most possible source weather for each 3 destination weather. Once reached the final day, I can thus backtrack and find out the most possible path.